

Basic Simulation lab course outcomes

At the end of the course a student will be able to:

CO1. The course intends to provide an overview of signal analysis.

CO2. This course relies on elementary treatment and qualitative analysis of Fourier Transform, Laplace Transform and Z-Transforms

CO3. To provide an overview of signal transmission through linear systems, convolution and correlation of signals and sampling.